Five Rose Lane is not currently equipped to provide for the needs of students with learning disabilities or cognitive delays. Does your child have any special needs which would require help beyond what you are able to give at home, or which cannot be alleviated through some other independent means (tutoring, therapies, etc.)? If yes, how do you plan to meet those needs?

The healthy life of any school relies strongly on participation from parents & guardians in the child's education, but in a homeschool hybrid microschool, it is vital. Parent nights give parents & guardians the opportunity to learn about the curriculum, share concerns, and plan activities to support the social life of the class. It is expected that at least one guardian from the family attend all such evenings. Will you make that commitment?
